

Secret Divorce of Mrs. W. R. Garrison Revealed in Paris

Former Miss Constance Court-dort of New York Received.
Decree There Jan. 28.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—A decree granted last January 28 divorcing Mrs. Constance Court-dort from William R. Garrison of New York city was made public here to-day. The action was brought by Mrs. Garrison.

News of the divorce of Mr. and Mrs. Garrison will not cause surprise here, as it had been known for years that their relations were not happy. Mrs. Garrison is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Court-dort of this city, her father having been a member of the law firm of Court-dort Brothers, for so many years identified with New York and Paris.

For several years Mrs. Garrison has been in Paris, where her sister, Mrs. Frank Glenzer, who was Miss Leonie Court-dort, has been living since her marriage in this city more than thirty years ago. She also is a sister of Mrs. Conde Nast of New York and of Mrs. F. T. Hart, who now lives in England, who married Miss Amelia Kuesner, a miniature painter.

Mr. Garrison is a son of the late William R. Garrison, who many years ago was killed in a railroad accident at Erie, N. J., and who left his son a handsome fortune. He is the grandson of the late Commodore Cornelius W. Garrison, who died about forty years ago, leaving a fortune to his children, one of whom was the late W. R. Garrison and the other Mrs. B. A. Aiken. Young Mr. Garrison and his wife had been living apart for fifteen years or more. Mrs. Court-dort worked hard to raise and educate their three daughters. Shortly after their separation she took a position as companion of a wealthy woman of New York and later entered the shop of a dressmaker in Fifth avenue. One of her daughters is a member of a religious order in England.

Mrs. Garrison's mother has for years been living in Paris, where her two sisters, Countess Gaston de Castella and Countess Francis de Castella, now live.

MRS. ROBERT L. BACON HAS THROAT OPERATION Now Out of Hospital and Recovering Rapidly.

Mrs. Robert Low Bacon, whose husband is running for Congress on the Republican ticket, has returned to Arlington, Va., residence of Mrs. Bacon, after a minor throat operation in Presbyterian Hospital. Her convalescence has been so rapid she will be able to gratify a wish to make a brief visit to the city of her husband's campaign.

Mrs. Bacon is a son of the late Robert Bacon, financier and one time Ambassador to France. Her mother, Mrs. William Bacon, has just given a children's library to Westbury. Mrs. Robert Low Bacon has for three years been an active member of the Republican party in Nassau county and is a member of the Westbury county committee. Mr. Bacon's Democratic opponent in the race for Congress from their Long Island district is Mr. S. A. Warner Ballantyne, also of Westbury.

DR. PAUL S. REINSCH BETTER. Physicians in Pekin Order Him to Take Complete Rest.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 20 (Associated Press).—Dr. Paul S. Reinsch, counselor of the Pekin government, who was brought here Wednesday by the Chinese government from northeastern, is improving. The attending physicians have ordered Dr. Reinsch to take a complete rest. They believe he will be able to sail for the United States in the near future.

PEABODY—FROST. Miss Bertha Frost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Frost of Peekskill, N. Y., but who has lived in Greenwich, Conn., recently has been married to Mr. Peabody, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Peabody of Milbank avenue, on Wednesday, October 11, it was announced.

The ceremony was performed in Wilton, Conn., by the Rev. Mr. Mitchell, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Only the immediate families knew about the wedding. The bride and groom were pleasantly surprised by the news. The young couple are living with Mr. Peabody's parents on Milbank avenue for the present.

MISS CROCKER'S WEDDING. Miss Elizabeth Crocker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Longfellow Crocker, who is to be married November 4, will have her sister, Miss Henry Gilbert Holt, as her bridesmaid.

Miss Holt, beheading her iron ore interests here and in Cleveland, is also connected with industrial insurance. He played on the Yale football team in 1910 and served in the navy.

TO MARRY MISS WHITRIDGE. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whitridge of Baltimore announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Alice Whitridge, to Edward W. Telcher, Jr., of New York.

Miss Whitridge is the granddaughter of former Gov. Bowdoin of Maryland, and is well known in Baltimore. Mr. Telcher is the son of Mrs. Fredrick Telcher of Baltimore and a member of the firm of Hamilton & Co., investment bankers, of Baltimore and New York.

ENGAGED TO W. R. STURGIS. Mr. Livingston Wells Fargo of 1322 Astor street, Chicago, has announced here and in that city the engagement of his niece, Miss Edith Fargo Andrews, to Mr. William Fargo Sturgis.

The bride's father, Mr. William Fargo, is the son of Mr. William Fargo and lives with her uncle in Chicago. Mr. Sturgis is the son of Mrs. Thomas Sturgis of Richmond Hill, L. I.

WEDDING NOTES. In the church of St. Thomas's Church this afternoon Baroness Olga Serebriakova, daughter of the late Baron Serebriakov of Russia, will be married to Mr. Samuel Cowan Dismore.

The marriage of Miss Alice Winston Murray, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert D. Murray, to Mr. Edgar Wells Freeman of Plainfield, N. J., and Washington, D. C., will be celebrated at the First Presbyterian Church, Scranton, Pa., in Christ Church, Pelham, N. Y., this evening. Miss Katherine Twohey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Twohey of Forest Heights, New Rochelle, will be maid of honor. Edwin Huntington Guest, son of Mr. Alonzo Guest of New Rochelle, will be best man.

Mrs. D. Clayton Little, daughter of Mrs. Hay Battelle Clayton of Runnymede, Westchester county, Virginia, will be married to Mr. Edwin Grant Fraser of Perth Amboy, N. J., to-day in the Brick Presbyterian Church. A small reception will follow at the Vanderbilt.

Dukes and Bride in Paris After Secret Marriage

Wedding October 8, Sir Paul Says, but Place Is Not Revealed.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
Copyright, 1922, by THE NEW YORK HERALD.

Sir Paul and Lady Dukes, the latter formerly Mrs. Margaret Rutherford Mills, arrived at the Gare St. Lazare at the stroke of midnight and lost no time in protesting to The New York Herald of Paris at what they considered the "foolish publicity that American papers attached to our marriage."

"There's no mystery about it at all," declared Sir Paul as he lifted a dozen heavy valises through the train window. "We were married October 3, and that's all there is to the story. We shall make an official statement with all the necessary details to-morrow, since the public are taking such an extraordinary interest."

Lady Dukes said nothing, but looked constantly along the platform, evidently expecting her mother, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt. The latter, however, waited outside in the limousine in the rue le Roux.

"That's all foolishness about the 'Omnipotent Oom,' etc.," replied the husband to a question by the correspondent. "We had nothing to do with such a fair-life is too serious for that."

Sir Paul insisted that plans for the immediate future had not yet been completed, but they probably will leave for Biarritz or the Riviera in a few days prior to visiting with relatives in England.

Both companies declared that Sir Paul and Lady Dukes had not made the slightest effort during the voyage to conceal their identity and contrary to some reports had not kept in seclusion. As soon as their identity was learned and the fact that they were on their honeymoon they attracted much attention, but accepted the situation good naturedly.

Sir Paul frequently spoke of Russian affairs with his boat friends, but he insisted upon arrival here that he did not intend to return to Russia as long as the Bolsheviks are there. "They have put a price on my head for the last three weeks and although it is in rubles it would amount to only $5," he said. "The prospect of returning is not attractive."

EX-KAISER GAY AT CIVIL BETROTHAL
Hermine Not Present at First Ceremony.

DOON, Oct. 20 (Associated Press).—The civil betrothal ceremony of the former Kaiser and the Princess of Reuss took place yesterday in the drawing room of the ex-emperor's castle here.

The former ruler was in gay humor as he, signing the document, wrote "William II." The Princess did not attend, but sent a power of attorney.

Baron Schenck-Pennik, burgomaster of Doorn, accompanied by the Secretary of Commerce, entered the drawing room with great dignity to preside over the ceremony. Germany's fallen ruler affixed his signature in the presence of many of those prominent in his own country.

Two grand ornamental chandeliers were lighted for the occasion. In accordance with Dutch law the betrothal notice will be posted on the communal board at the municipal building, where it must remain a full fortnight, proclaiming the bane of marriage.

MR. W. R. GRANT, JR., OF SAN DIEGO, CAL., who recently arrived from Europe and who have been visiting in Washington, left yesterday for their home in California.

The Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Geddes entertained the embassy staff and the ladies of their families at dinner last night in compliment to Capt. Sidney R. Bailey, retiring Naval Attaché of the embassy, and Mrs. Bailey.

ARTIST HOME ON AQUITANIA AFTER PAINTING POPE'S PORTRAIT

A. Muller-Ury Found the Holy Father Democratic and Amiable as He Sits for Two Pictures.

A Muller-Ury, artist, who arrived yesterday by the Cunarder Aquitania, from Southampton and Cherbourg, with 570 fellow voyagers, told how he recently painted two portraits of Pope Pius XI, one for the Vatican and the other for the American College in Rome.

The artist said the Holy Father had been so satisfactory and that this made the New York painter a bit nervous. But the Pope was so well pleased with the results that he persuaded the artist to paint still another portrait for the Holy Father's personal satisfaction.

Other arrivals were Sir Joseph and Lady Duveen, who found Carlsbad a much different resort than it was before the war; Eugene Boross, retired manager of Larchmont; the Misses Sarah Cooper and Eleanor G.
